Technical Description:

This leather, have a natural grain, with light buffed process and a very light translucent finish for color. Differences in grain are acceptable. The thickness is from 1.1 – 1.3 mm. Its main characteristics are the extremely soft hand and the touch being slightly fatty, but appreciable. Le mans is available also with split. This is a great value if you consider that the article has natural grain. Being a natural grain article, there will be a difference between leather - top grain - and split since the split leathers have embossed grain, and remain uniform. Other characteristic such as scars, vein, insect bites, etc. are acceptable.
